

UCLA Anderson Executive Education launches a new programme in India in exclusive partnership with Northwest

ET Bureau Last Updated: Jul 03, 2017, 02:26 PM IST

SHARE FONT SIZE SAVE PRINT COMMENT

Synopsis

Mohit Jain from Northwest Executive Education said that the pricing of the programme has been kept at US$ 10,000 or about Rs 6.5 lakh.

ET Bureau

MUMBAI: The UCLA Anderson Graduate School of Management has launched its post graduate program in management for professionals in India in partnership with Northwest Executive Education.

UCLA PGP PRO, a global general management programme, is focused on an extensive immersion in general management, entrepreneurship and global management for professionals, managers and executives.

The PGP PRO builds the flagship UCLA PGPX program for senior executives available in India since 2015.

The programme comprises five extensive online modules with regular live faculty interactions, three foundational modules, two classroom immersions for learning advanced concepts, and several weekend master classes and leadership labs throughout the programme.

“UCLA PGP PRO is an effort to bring top-tier business education within logistical and financial reach of a large number of working professionals. Our faculty has put in significant efforts in creating the curriculum and content for this blended program,” said Alfred E. Osborne, senior associate dean, UCLA Anderson.

Mohit Jain from Northwest Executive Education said that the pricing of the programme has been kept at US$ 10,000 or about Rs 6.5 lakh. The programme will be held from January 2018 to December 2018.

READ MORE NEWS ON

Ucla Anderson Executive Education

Northwest Executive Education Ucla

Ucla Anderson Graduate School Of Management

Ucla Anderson Mohit Jain

India

Education

(Catch all the Business News, Breaking News Events and Latest News Updates on The Economic Times.)

...more